Sponsored by the PA Human Relations Commission, the Access Doctors give you the tools you need to create an accessible home or public building.

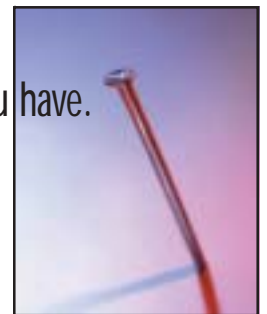

This website identifies the level of legally mandated accessibility of a building or commercial property in the Commonwealth. It is designed for use by architects, builders, real estate industry personnel, building owners, developers and the general public in order to ensure voluntary compliance.

The heart and soul of the website is a series of approximately 25 questions that require the user to input data specific to the building itself in order to determine what disability accessibility laws may or may not apply. The site also asks for specific site-related information about the location of the property in order to determine if there are any local laws or ordinances that may apply.

Cut through the laws that affect accessibility on housing and commercial property.

Nail down the answers to questions you have.

Hammer home the laws that impact your property in one easy stop.

Level any doubt if you are in compliance with federal, state and local laws.
